Information sources available from Maidstone and Tunbridge Wells NHS Trust

• The Medicines Helpline

 01892 634216

This is a telephone helpline available to answer any questions you have regarding medicines prescribed for you at the Tunbridge Wells Hospital at Pembury or the Maidstone Hospital. Unfortunately we cannot answer questions about medicines from your own doctor or about your illness in general. The Helpline is open:

Monday to Friday 9.00am to 4.30pm

- Your discharge letter

If you were an inpatient at hospital you will have been given a copy of your discharge letter. This is the same letter that will be sent to your GP and contains information about how your medicines have been prescribed and supplied.

Where else can I find information?

- The patient information leaflet

Each medicine is dispensed with a leaflet, (usually found in the medicine container), giving detailed information about that specific medicine.

- Your local community pharmacist (chemist)

Your community pharmacist can offer you advice and support with your medicines to ensure that you are using them effectively. If you have been prescribed a new medicine for a long-term illness, ask your local pharmacy about the NHS New Medicine Service.

- Your General Practitioner (GP) Practice

Your GP may be the most appropriate person to speak to regarding your medicines if you need further supplies or believe you are experiencing serious side effects from your new medicine. Many GP surgeries have a practice pharmacist who can also offer information and support on medicines.

- NHS 111

If you need urgent help with your medicines and cannot contact any of the above, telephone NHS 111. This service offers health information and advice from specially trained nurses 24 hours a day.

- NHS Choices

 www.nhs.uk

This website provides information and guidance on all aspects of health and healthcare along with a Medicine A to Z, which has information on commonly prescribed medicines.

- The hospital switchboard  01622 729000

If you have a question which does not relate to medicine, for example about an out-patient appointment, please call the hospital switchboard and they can put you through to the correct department.

General advice about your medicine

Side effects

All medicines can cause side effects. The majority of these are mild and temporary; however, some can be serious. They can appear after you have been taking a medicine for a long time or even after stopping a medicine. Some side effects are linked to the way the medicine works to treat your condition; these effects are predictable and may require a small adjustment of your dose. Some are not clearly linked to the medicinal effects and are therefore unpredictable.

Remember that not everyone will experience side effects, even those described as “common” occur in only a few people in every 100 treated. When deciding with your doctor that you should take a medicine, consider the risks of any side effect against the benefit you will gain from taking the medicine. In the United Kingdom, a medicine will only be licensed for use if the benefit of its medicinal effect has been proved to outweigh the risks of any potential side effects.

Storage advice

- Please check the packaging of your medicine for any specific storage advice. For example, if your medicine must be kept in the fridge it will say on the label. If there are no specific storage instructions, we suggest you keep your medicines in a single place which is out of the reach of children.
- It is important to keep your medicine in its original packaging so that it can be identified easily, the instructions are clear, it is safely protected from light or water and the expiry date is known.
- Keep your medicines separate from anyone else's in your household to avoid confusion.

Supply of medicine

- Medicine which you brought into hospital and still need will be returned to you when you go home. If you have started a new medicine, you will be given a supply to take home.
- Your GP will prescribe more if required, according to the information on your discharge letter if you were an inpatient, or on the pink slip given to you with your medicine if you were an outpatient.

Disposal of medicine

- Any medicine you have left over once your course is complete, or your medicine has been stopped, can be returned to the hospital pharmacy or your local community pharmacy for safe disposal.
 - Sharps bins are provided for disposal of needles and used syringes, they can only be disposed of by a licensed authority - you will be given separate instructions with your sharps bin on how to do this.
