Focus on KnowledgeShare:

KnowledgeShare

WHAT IS IT?

It is a targeted current awareness service based on updates that are personalised for you

WHY USE IT?

Updates focus on the evidence that can change practice, and tell you about the latest publications on quality, safety, education and patient experience. Content is derived from guidelines, policies and a range of summarised evidence so that you will not be inundated with primary research articles

HOW DOES IT WORK?

We create a profile based on your requirements; we can be as broad or as specific as you need.

World Book Day

World Book Day Wrap-up

Many thanks to the large numbers of you who got involved with our World Book 'Month' of events in March this year, we had a great time planning events and reminding Trust staff that we have lots to offer.

Over 100 of you tried your hand at winning the Kindle by matching favourite book titles back to members of Trust staff. The highest number of correct guesses was 4 out of 9 in the end, and Hannah Alland, Digital Communications Officer, scooped the prize. Still puzzling over who chose which book as their all-time favourite read? Here are the answers:

- Glenn Douglas: The Martian, by Andy Wier
- Paul Bentley: To Kill a Mockingbird, by Harper Lee
- Tony Jones: Flashman, by George McDonald Fraser
- Avey Bhatia: India in Slow Motion by Mark Tully
- Steve Orpin: Ready Player One, by Ernest Cline
- Patrick McGinley: Lord of the Rings, by JRR Tolkien
- Emma Aldrich: The Magus, by John Fowles
- Gianna Pollero-Payne: The House of Silk, by Anthony Horowitz
- Phil Dwyer: Dragonflight, by Anne McCaffrey

Our two jars filled with Easter treats were won by Jeanette Barlow and Jody Parks.

Our Richard & Judy titles are going down well, don't forget we have a growing collection of leisure reading titles for you, including books read and discussed at the Book Group.

You can also borrow DVDs from us at no cost; not seen Star Wars Episode 7 yet? How about the latest James Bond, or The Suffragettes? Pop in and see what we have!
