Freedom of Information Act 2000

I am writing in response to your request for information made under the Freedom of Information Act 2000 in relation to PFI staff health.

You asked:

How many staff involved in your PFI contracts have taken leave for stress-related illnesses since January 2021?

It is any trust staff whose work involves dealing with the PFI contracts that are managed by the public sector, not the private partners. For example managing the contract, ensuring that the private partner is following the contract, working on applying any deductions, etc.

Trust response:

The Trust has had no staff take leave for stress-related illnesses since January 2021 who are involved in the PFI contracts as defined in the request.
